

Open Donor: Hikaru

Staff impression:

Hikaru is good looking with a creamy skin tone and bright white smile. He has high chiseled cheek bones giving him a very handsome appearance. He dresses well put together and with care.

This donor believes in ever evolving as a person and when we asked what makes him unique he said just that, "The fact that I always manage to learn something new everyday. I don't believe in being a static person, never changing. There is always some endeavor in which we can improve ourselves upon and it is a biological and societal imperative to keep pushing for that which is just out of reach."

Hikaru is well spoken and easy to engage. He is intelligent and interesting to converse with. He has a wonderful outlook on life and brightens the day of those he comes in contact with effortlessly.
