

Kamal Staff Impression

Although Kamal comes off shy at first, once he opens up you, will find him to be an outgoing, caring, and very sweet guy. Kamal and his family are from Nepal, and he has a beautiful, dark olive-toned complexion, kind almond-shaped brown eyes, and strong nose, and an attractive square jawline. We always see Kamal coming into our office stylishly dressed with his hair well-kept, and a big smile on his face. He has a medium build and strong muscle tone proportionate to his frame. His hobbies include playing and watching cricket and soccer, as well as spending time outdoors.

Kamal has a big heart and loves to help people. He feels passionately about volunteering and did so in Nepal, as relief support after several large earthquakes. He is currently attending university with an interest in IT. He hopes to continue within the field of work in the future. Kamal's kind nature and charming good looks make him an excellent choice as a donor!
