

Declan is both smart and handsome. His diverse heritage has given him a very striking and unique look with thick, dark hair; light olive skin; and light blue, almond-shaped eyes.

Declan is a personable, kind, and altruistic man who puts a lot of focus on his career in healthcare, cultural awareness, and humanitarian work. He currently works in tissue donation and plans on completing medical school to begin work as a physician. Much of his time is devoted to international humanitarian healthcare initiatives. We think he is an amazing guy and we are thrilled to be able to offer him as a donor.