

Staff Impression Horace 10738

Horace is stoic, determined, and inquisitive! His face is square, with full cheeks, full lips, and wide-set eyes. His honey-brown eyes compliment his sandy, brown hair and olive toned skin. He is tall and has a large stature, reflective of his regular weightlifting and swimming. His interests are also a demonstration of his calm personality, enjoying archery, triathlons, and rock climbing.

He is an independent thinker and is looking forward to paving his own path, with an Interdisciplinary Studies degree. He values the freedom to find what will be relevant to his future career and interests but also highlights his dedication to hard work. He emphasizes the need to put oneself fully into his passions to be successful. He credits both of his parents for this perspective! Horace is confident in himself and the decisions he is making to broaden his understanding of the world from an economic perspective, and an emotional one. He cares deeply about the donor program and has wonderful insight on what being a donor means, making us so excited to have Horace be a part of this program!
